Employers say they need a workforce that can apply basic academic, critical thinking, and interpersonal skills to specific job tasks. CASAS shows Educational Functional Level (EFL) gains. How can we help our students make progress towards these gains faster for all AEBG basic skills programs?

In this session participants will work in small groups to review and use CASAS reports. Participants will learn how to use the details in the reports to evaluate student and class success, and to guide instruction towards student needs. Through the three A's (Assess, Analyze, and Adjust), participants will learn how to help their students master the necessary competencies for success.

Please bring samples of rubrics, table of contents, or other tools you can share during small group work.

Presenters: Norm Chavez (Rowland), Mary Ann Gomez-Angel (Mt. SAC), Debbie Jensen (Baldwin Park), Alex Martinez (Bassett), Carl Swift (Covina-Valley), Peggy Toda (Rowland), Margaret Velarde (Pomona)

Employers seek workers with strong basic skills to work smart and grown on the job. They are prepared to invest in job candidates who can learn independently, benefit from training, take on new responsibilities, and move up the career ladder. The CASAS Workforce Skills Certification System (WSCS) will document and develop employer validated academic and soft skills for adults entering the workforce, transition to work, incumbent workers, and dislocated workers and facilitate transitions to the workforce.

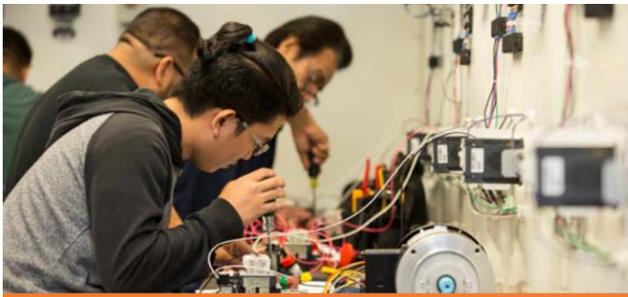

In this session Adriana Terry from CASAS will present on the CASAS WSCS. Adriana will also provide insights to AEBG goals and outcome metrics, and answer any questions related to these topics. Please prepare questions for the presenter. You can learn more about the WSCS here: <https://www.casas.org/product-overviews/assessments/WSCS>
